P. Duff and C. Dolphin (2007) Cost-benefit analysis of assistive technology to support independence for people with dementia – Part 1: Development of a methodological approach to the ENABLE cost-benefit analysis. Technology and Disability 19 (2,3) 73 - 78.

P. Duff and C. Dolphin (2007) Cost-benefit analysis of assistive technology to support independence for people with dementia – Part 2: Results from employing the ENABLE cost-benefit model in practice. Technology and Disability 19 (2,3) 79 - 90.

I. Hagen (2007) What is evidence? in Challenges for Assistive Technology (G. Enzmendi et al, eds) IOS Press, pp.222 - 226.

I. Hagen and S. Bjørneby (2007) User and carer involvement in the development of assistive technology for people with dementia in Challenges for Assistive Technology (G. Enzmendi et al, eds) IOS Press, pp. 809 – 814.

P. Topo, K. Saarikalle, E. Begley, S. Cahill, T. Holthe and J. Macijauskiene (2007) “I don’t know about the past or the future, but today it’s Friday” – Evaluation of a time aid for people with dementia. Technology and Disability 19 (2,3) 121 – 131.

I. Hagen (2007) Guest editorial “Technology in Dementia Care” Technology and Disability 19 (2,3) 53 - 54.

S. Cahill, J. Macijauskiene, A - M Nygaard, J - P Faulkner and I. Hagen (2007) Technology in Dementia Care. Technology and Disability 12: (2,3) 55 – 60.

S. Cahill, E. Begley, J – P Faulkner and I. Hagen (2007) “It gives me a sense of independence” Findings from Ireland on the use and usefulness of assistive technology for people with dementia. Technology and Disability 19: (2,3) 133 – 142.

I. Hagen, S. Cahill, E. Begley, J. Macijauskiene, J. Gilliard, K. Jones, P. Yopo, K. Sarikalle, T. Holthe and P. Duff. (2005) Assessment of usefulness of assistive technologies for people with dementia in Assistive Technology – from Virtuality to Reality. (Alain Pruski and Harry Knops, eds) IOS Press, pp. 348 – 352.

P. Topo and K. Saarikalle (2005) Can time orientation of a person with dementia be improved by an assistive aid? Gerontologia 19 (1), 3-12. Article in Finnish, with English abstract.
